

IN THE SPECIFICATION

Please replace the paragraph at page 8, line 16, with the following rewritten paragraph:

Examples of the solvent for the liquid C include water, ethyl alcohol and acetone, and it is preferable to use water. The amount of the solvent in the liquid C is not particularly limited but the content ratio (mass ratio) of the ~~molybdenum compound contained in the liquid A~~ the raw material of element Z contained in the liquid C to the solvent is preferably 1:0.1 to 1:100, more preferably 1:0.5 to 1:50.